PAID INTERNSHIP OPPORTUNITIES
SPRING AND SUMMER 2014

ABOUT THE PROGRAM:
The Virginia Space Grant Consortium (VSGC) and its partners (shown below) in collaboration with Virginia’s colleges and community colleges are offering the Commonwealth STEM Industry Internship Program (CSIIP). CSIIP is a free resource for finding paid spring, summer, and fall internships. CSIIP provides an online system where undergraduate students majoring in science, technology, engineering or mathematics (STEM) disciplines at Virginia universities, colleges and community colleges complete a single application package that will be reviewed by companies throughout Virginia. There is no cost to students, universities, or companies to participate.

Students may apply statewide or by region and can also express interest in specific internships posted by companies. Apply now for maximum consideration by companies. Application is through the CSIIP website at CSIIP.org.

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS:
• At least 18 years of age and attending an accredited Virginia college, community college, or university. Virginia residents attending an accredited out-of-state college may apply.
• Must be enrolled as undergraduate taking at least six (6) credit hours per semester and making demonstrated progress towards a STEM degree.
• Have completed at least 30 or more post-secondary education credits and are at least of rising sophomore status prior to the internship. Newly graduating seniors in 2014 are also eligible to participate.
• Majoring in a STEM (science, technology, engineering or mathematics) field.
• U.S. citizen or permanent resident.
• A minimum GPA of 2.7 on a 4.0 scale.

One application puts a student in front of a multitude of companies offering internships. There are no company applications to fill out until a company decides to make a student an offer.
